CPSIA General Statement

The Consumer Safety Improvement Act (CPSIA) is a Federal Regulation. New testing procedures were introduced at that time for many manufacturers and suppliers of consumer goods in the United States. This is, basically, for the sale of product to children aged 12 and under.

In order to comply with the CPSIA standards, Budgetcard's inks and substrates have been tested by a third party lab and meet the minimum reporting limit.

Budgetcard's products are designed for business promotions and directed at an audience older than 12 years of age. Due to the sale of our products through our distributors, we are not aware of the age of the end user.

Although Budgetcard does not produce children's items, if an order is placed with us and will be used by a child 12 years old and younger this information must be stated on your purchase order. We will (at that time) realize the job is to be recorded. We will have the appropriate information printed on each piece in order to be compliant. The registered information will be included on your proof.
